LONG-PLANNED SUIT AGAINST STEEL TRUST FILED

Government Asks Dissolution of U. S. Steel Corporation and All Its Subsidiaries on Ground of Combining in Violation of Sherman Law Prominent Financiers Named As Individual Defendants—Numerous Sensational Allegations Petition Says Roosevelt Misled Regarding Plan to Acquire Tennessee Company During Panic of 1907

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 26.—The government's long-planned suit to break up the so-called "steel trust" was begun here today in the United States circuit court. It is the most sweeping antitrust action ever brought by the department of justice.

The government asks not only the dissolution of the United States Steel corporation but for the dissolution of all subsidiary companies which are alleged to have combined in violation of the Sherman law "to maintain or attempt to maintain a monopoly of the steel business." Thirty-six subsidiary corporations are named as defendants.

J. Pierpont Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, Charles M. Schwab, George W. Perkins, E. H. Gary, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Henry C. Frick, Charles Steele, James Gayley, William H. Moore, J. H. Moore, Edmund C. Converse, Percival Roberts, Jr., Daniel G. Reid, Norman B. Reim, P. A. B. Widener and William P. Palmer are named individually as defendants.

The United States Steel corporation, the Carnegie Steel company, the Carnegie company of New Jersey, the Federal Steel company, the National Steel company, the American Steel and Wire company of New Jersey, the National Tube company, the Shelby Steel Tube company, the American Tinplate company, the American Sheet and Tinplate company, the American Sheet Steel company, the American Bridge company, the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron mines, all of which were organized under the New Jersey laws, and the H. C. Frick Coke company, the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company and the Great Western Mining company, are named as corporate defendants.

Louis W. Hill, James N. Hill, Walter J. Hill, E. T. Nichols and J. H. Gruber are named as trustees in connection with ore companies.

The steel corporation's lease of the Great Northern railway's ore properties, which the directors of the steel company today formally decided to cancel, is alleged to be illegal. The action of the directors was taken but a few hours before the filing of the bill. The government acknowledges that it was advised of the steel corporation's intention in this respect, but states that under the terms of the lease, no cancellation would be effective until January 1, 1912, and there is no limit upon the amount of ore that can be taken out in the meantime.

Many Sensational Allegations.
Sensational allegations are numerous in the government petition, which is in equity proceeding, praying for injunctions to stop continuance of the alleged monopoly, and such other relief as the court may grant.

The steel corporation's acquisition of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, during the panic of 1907, is declared illegal and scathingly criticized. The petition declares that E. H. Gary and Henry C. Frick misled ex-President Roosevelt when they told him that but little benefit would come to the steel corporation from the purchase.

"The president," it says, "was not made acquainted with the state of affairs in New York relevant to the transactions as they existed. If he had been fully advised he would have known that a desire to stop the panic was not the sole moving cause, but that there was also a desire and purpose to acquire the control of a company that had recently assumed a position of potential competition of great significance." Continuing, it says: "It is certain that the corporation

BRIEF HISTORY OF GREAT COMBINATION

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The United States Steel corporation, the greatest combination of capital in the world, was organized in 1901 under the financial management of J. P. Morgan and company and began its corporate existence under the laws of New Jersey on April 1 of that year.

Charles M. Schwab, formerly Andrew Carnegie's right-hand man and first vice president of the corporation is said to have first suggested the idea, having approached it according to his own testimony before the Stanley steel investigating committee at a dinner held in New York. As the sequence of this dinner, according to Mr. Schwab, negotiations were opened between Mr. Morgan and different interests which controlled the leading steel concerns of the country including the largest Carnegie company to bring them together under one control.

It was decided before the Stanley steel trust was formed to be the "thorn in the side" of the steel industry, owing to the alleged policy of Mr. Carnegie in refusing to stand by agreements and was Mr. Carnegie's method, according to some witnesses, that really precipitated the proposal of combination.

Other Mergers Later.
In exchange for the stocks and bonds of these concerns there were issued stocks and bonds of the United States Steel corporation aggregating $1,297,000,000, subsequently in 1903 and 1907 there were more taken in the Shelby Steel

CANCEL LEASE ON ORE LANDS

STEEL DIRECTORS AGREE AT SPECIAL MEETING

Also Recommend That Railways Cut Freight Rates From Iron Fields

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—At a special meeting today the directors of the United States Steel corporation formally decided to cancel the corporation's lease of the Great Northern ore properties.

The directors also adopted resolutions recommending to the directors of the Duluth, Mesaba and Northern Railway company a reduction in freight rates on iron ore from points in the Mesaba range to Duluth to a figure not exceeding 60 cents per ton, and to the Duluth and Iron Range Railroad company a similar reduction on the iron ore rate from the Vermilion and Mesaba iron range to Duluth and Iron Harbors, Minn.

Resolving to recommend to the two railroad companies the reduction in rates the resolution embodies the following clauses: "That all points upon said range (in the case of the Duluth and Iron Range Railroad company) the word 'range' is used, reached by the lines of said company be included in one zone or district, for the purpose of establishing freight rates on iron ore from the mines to Duluth."

The basis of reduction, according to the resolution, is to be the gross ton, 2,240 pounds.

Refuses to Discuss Resignation.
Notwithstanding reports in Wall street that the resignation of one or more directors was to be considered at the meeting, Chairman Gary refused to discuss reports that William E. Corey, former president of the corporation, Henry Phelps or Norman B. Reim were to resign as directors.

The ore lands described in the resolutions as the lands of the Great Western Mining company are more generally known as the "Great Northern ore lands." The lease was made January 2, 1907, and has more than three years to run. The resolution provides that it be surrendered on January 1, 1912, under a clause in the lease, providing for its termination on due notice, otherwise it was to have run in perpetuity.

The cut recommended in iron ore rates is believed to be the company's reply to the charge made against it in the recent report of the commission of corporations that it was charging excessive rates of ore, thereby putting a handicap on independent steel companies, which might have to ship ore over these two lines.

The iron ore deposits covered by the lease have been variously estimated to contain between 250,000,000 and 1,000,000,000 tons of the finest ore in the country. The lands containing this ore were owned partly by the Northern Pacific railway but principally by companies controlled by the Great Northern railway. They were placed in the hands of a trustee in 1900 and leased to the United States Steel corporation through the Great Western Mining company, a subsidiary of the corporation, which itself guaranteed the lease.

On the left is the Rev. V. T. Robinson, the Cambridge, Mass., minister in charge of the Boston murder case. On the right is the Rev. J. H. Hunt, pastor of the First Baptist church, who is in charge of the fund for the relief of worthy and needy ministers.

MOORE SENTENCED to Serve From 8 Months to 1 Year

W. J. Moore yesterday was sentenced by District Judge Anderson to serve from eight months to one year in the county jail for the killing of Thomas McGrath, last spring.

McGrath was a hatter and conducted an establishment at 127 1/2 East Lincoln street. He and Moore became involved in an argument over a pool game, commonly known as "one-ball-in-the-hole," and Moore struck McGrath on the side of the head. The blow apparently had little effect at the time, but a few minutes afterward McGrath complained of pain in his head.

He was taken home by a friend and a physician called. An examination failed to disclose any great injury, but an hour or two after the first visit of the doctor, McGrath died. It developed at the coroner's inquest that McGrath's skull was fractured just above the right ear.

Moore was arrested, and a charge of murder was filed against him. He declared he struck McGrath with his open hand, and his claim that the man did not fall from the force of the blow was sustained by a number of witnesses. The authorities believed that Moore had a pool ball or an object of some kind in his hand when he hit McGrath, but this was not proved. The case was tried in the district court a few weeks ago, but the jury was unable to agree upon a verdict and was discharged.

SNOW IN P. P. REGION

Colorado Springs and the Pikes Peak region was visited by another snow storm last evening. There was a slight fall at intervals yesterday afternoon, and at 6 o'clock the flakes became larger and were steadily in their drop to earth. By 7 o'clock the streets were covered in places. The snow seemed to melt almost as fast as it fell.

DENVER, Oct. 26.—Snow, the heaviest this season, fell here tonight and is reported general throughout the central, north and eastern parts of Colorado. Late tonight it had grown slightly colder and at several places where there has been a mixture of rain and snow, late today, indications are that a thick covering will be general by daylight tomorrow.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 26.—Specials to the Journal from Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska report the fall of snow over a wide area. At Gregory, S. D., a foot of snow fell, and traffic is likely to be blocked if a wind storm follows.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—The first snow of the season fell here tonight. The downfall lasted about an hour, and was so near the melting point that it vanished as fast as it fell.

INDIANAPOLIS MEN TO TELL FEDERAL GRAND JURY ABOUT McNAMARA Arrests

Indianapolis, Oct. 26.—That the federal department of justice has entered upon an investigation of the so-called McNamara dynamiting case became known today. A subpoena was served upon Frank Baker, prosecutor of this county, to appear before the federal grand jury for this district on November 7, and to bring with him all evidence in the form of books, documents, dynamite and exploding apparatus seized in a raid on the offices here of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers at the time of the arrest of John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the association.

Other subpoenas it is known have been issued for the appearance of persons having knowledge of the circumstances of the raid and the finding of the dynamite in the basement of the building in which are the offices of the ironworkers and the home of an ironworker on the outskirts of the city.

Police and Experts Served.
Besides Prosecutor Baker, those upon whom subpoenas for the investigation were served today are Superintendent of Police Martin Hyland, Captain of Detectives William Holtz and C. E. Freeman and J. C. Talbot, expert accountants, who have been examining the account books of the association of ironworkers under the direction of the prosecutor.

This action on the part of the government follows the ruling of Judge Joseph Markley in the criminal court of this county, denying a petition of State's Attorney Fredericks of Los Angeles of evidence collected here for use in the trial of James B. McNamara now proceeding.

Judge Markley decided that no method was apparent by which such evidence could be brought back to this county if needed in a trial of John J. McNamara on an indictment returned against him for alleged conspiracy to dynamite.

Attorneys and others interested in the McNamara case speculated as to whether when the federal grand jury took charge of the evidence a petition for its possession by the Los Angeles authorities would lie in the federal court.

It was said that the federal grand jury's inquiry would be to ascertain if a statute against conspiracy to transport from one state to another dynamite for unlawful purposes had been violated.

May Alter Aspects of Case.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—Reports from Indianapolis today that a federal grand jury would investigate the so-called McNamara dynamiting case, supplied a theme for consideration for thousands started to leave the grounds. The struggling National league champions sent in three pitchers to stem the tide, but all were hit almost alike, White getting the worst whaling. The other two were Ames, who started the game, and Marquand who followed White into the box. Thirteen hits for a total of 17 bases was the total shown by the hit column when the game was over.

ATHLETICS WORLD'S CHAMPIONS FOR SECOND CONSECUTIVE YEAR

Every member of the team got a hit with the exception of Collins and Bender, but the former made a timely sacrifice that helped to score a run. When the game began Catcher Thomas was the only member of the White Elephant team who had not made a hit in the series. He got into the hit column in the seventh inning and the Athletics players themselves cheered him.

Murray of the New York team is the only one of its regulars who failed to connect with any Athletic pitcher in the series for a hit.

Bender in Rare Form.
To "Chief" Bender, the wonderful Chippewa twirler, goes the credit of pitching the final victory. His work in the box surpassed the exhibition he gave in the first game at the Polo grounds in New York. Three singles and a double in as many innings were all the New York's could garner off his delivery.

The two-base hit was made by Doyle in the first inning and he scored

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

The ideal heating stove is one which radiates all the heat thrown off from the fuel—into the room—instead of letting it go up the chimney. The durable heater is the one which will withstand the severe use, year after year, which a heating stove is necessarily subjected to. Sheet steel is the quickest radiator of heat and is used as radiating surface only in Cole's Hot Blast heater. Wherever the fuel comes in contact with the flues—only first quality gray cast iron is used.

Cast iron withstands the wear of the heat from active combustion better than any other material, and the large, sensitive, sheet metal body and base radiate all the heat into the rooms.

Committee Reports.

The committee on social service made the following report: "We desire to express our appreciation of the attitude of the Northern Baptist convention to the question of social service and to commend the work of its social service commission. We suggest that the churches make a careful study of its report to the convention at Philadelphia and to form wherever practicable a social study classes for the study of social service literature and the promotion of actual service of this character."

"We rejoice to note an awakening of the churches of this country to the necessity of seeking to improve social conditions."

"We recommend that our pastors preach often on civic, industrial and temperance subjects."

"We recommend, also, that the churches use in every way possible the stimulus to social service that will undoubtedly be given by the Men and Religion Forward movement."

Respectfully submitted,
W. J. SLAY,
J. H. FRANKLIN,
W. T. DAVIS.

This was amended to include definite work on "Social Purity."
Dr. J. H. Spencer of Denver, Dr. T. P. Stafford of Canon City and the Rev. T. E. Kelly of Lamar took prominent parts in yesterday morning's meeting. The convention adopted a standard, points of excellence considered, for the Sunday schools of the state to follow. It reads:

Sunday School Standard.

- (1) A graded system of lessons.
- (2) Permanent plans for the increase and training of the teaching force.
- (3) Systematic efforts for the enlargement of the school.
- (4) Definite training in finance, self-support and beneficence.
- (5) Special instruction in missions and temperance.
- (6) Having organized adult classes.
- (7) Using denominational literature.
- (8) Observing days—Children's, Rally, Decision, etc.
- (9) Having an enrollment greater than the church roll.
- (10) Having an attendance equal to 75 per cent of the enrollment.

The following resolutions were passed, two of them showing the way the delegates feel as to the way they are being entertained here:

Whereas, The Colorado state convention has been so royally welcomed by the First Baptist church of Colorado Springs, and

Whereas, In many ways the press of the city, the members of other denominations, the officers of the Y. M. C. A. and the citizens in general have shown the convention many courtesies, be it Resolved, First, that we extend to the First Baptist church our hearty thanks for their magnificent hospitality in opening to us their homes and church. We appreciate the careful attention to details shown by their able pastor and his associates upon the various committees. We shall carry with us most happy memories of our stay in their midst.

Express Appreciation.

Resolved, Second, that we convey to the press, citizens, officers of the Y. M. C. A. and members of other denominations our gratitude for the many courtesies shown our convention. We would emphasize the valuable service the Rev. G. C. Cross rendered the convention in reporting its proceedings.

Resolved, That we express to our retiring president, Dr. A. H. Stockman, the assurance of our appreciation of his untiring devotion to the task imposed by virtue of the office. He has set a notable standard of efficiency and tact as a presiding officer over the deliberation of the board and exercises of the convention.

Resolved, That whereas our state missionary, Rev. W. C. King, has rendered our cause such helpful service during the past year, we express our admiration of the skill shown in meeting trying situations and for the untiring energy displayed in arranging for the great convention we are now enjoying.

Resolved, That whereas our state treasurer, Mr. Frank Perry, has passed through such fierce fires of physical affliction, but despite all trials has rendered us such valuable service, we record our gratitude to God for the spared life, and express our obligation to our brother for his worthy example and service.

Afternoon Session.

The praise and song service in the afternoon was led by the Rev. J. P. Hardy of Fountain, assisted by Dr. E. T. Cassell of Denver. Two numbers were given by the Colorado Woman's College quartet. The Lord is My Shepherd and Jesus, Lover of My Soul.

Then the afternoon was devoted to the interests of this woman's college at Mt. Clear, a suburb of Denver. This institution is just getting intently started, with about 100 students in attendance. Buildings and new features are being added as rapidly as funds will allow. The president, J. P. Treat, outlined the general work, assisted by addresses from the Rev. H. D. Brownell and Mrs. F. L. Smith.

The popular hymn of the convention is "The King's Business," which was written by Dr. E. T. Cassell of Denver, a white-haired member of this body. Dr. Cassell told how he was moved to write it at a Sunday morning service, years ago. He wrote it on the back of an old envelope and composed the tune and wrote it in the silence of a meeting, his wife writing the harmony later. It is now used the world around by all bodies of Christians.

Today's program follows:

The possibilities of the power and the control that may thus be exerted over trade and commerce is, in itself, a matter of great importance.

The power and control that have been exerted by the corporation largely through the grasp of its financial resources, has been a matter of great importance to the consumer, competitor and capital, is incompatible with the healthy commercial life of the nation.

Reviews Conditions.

The government reviews in great detail the conditions in the steel trade before the consolidations of 1898-1900 and the formation of the Federal Steel company, the Carnegie Company of New Jersey, the American Steel and Wire company, the National Tube company, the American Tin Plate company, the American Steel Hoop company, the American Sheet Steel company and other corporations prior to the formation of the United States Steel corporation itself, in 1901.

Describing the United States Steel corporation's acquisition of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, the petition relates:

"In 1901, the corporation acquired the control and almost the entire ownership of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company. The properties of this company, were located mainly in Alabama and Tennessee.

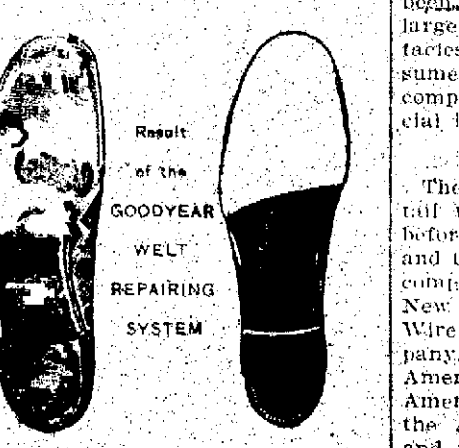

"By reason of the character of its coal and iron deposits, the Tennessee company, could manufacture pig iron cheaper than it could be made in any other part of the United States. On account of the vast holdings of coal and iron properties it was a strong probable future competitor of the corporation. Most of the mills in the United States have been made of Bessemer irons. # Important

Gano-Downs began showing this morning one hundred advanced suits styles that can not be imitated to the ordinary trade for several months yet.

They arrived but yesterday. They are the newest much the newest in Colorado Springs.

And they are among the handsomest ever shown in this store since the first day it opened.

Cheviots, Worsteds and Tweeds. Grays, browns and tans.

The hair-line stripe in grays and browns.

The wale or woven effect in plain grays and blues.

The herring-bone effect in light tans.

The basket-weave effect in browns, grays and blues.

None the least bit freakish or "extreme." But each distinctive. Clothes which HAVE individuality and GIVE individuality.

In either the conservative three-button sack, or the English style with soft-roll front and cuff sleeve.

Sizes 34 to 44. For men 18 to 80.

In price, $25 to $40.

There is no man in Colorado Springs who cannot be fitted from among these hundred suits.

There is no man in Colorado Springs who would not look well. VERY well in some of them.

Nor any man for whom they will not wear to his entire satisfaction.

Important.

INDIGESTION AND STOMACH TROUBLE ENDS

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn, Headache and Other Distress Will Go in Five Minutes.

If you had some Diapepsin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a Diapepsin case of Paper's Diapepsin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Paper's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases of Paper's Diapepsin contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disturbance.

SMITH DEFEATS IVES IN THE ARIZONA PRIMARIES

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 26.—Returns from Tuesday's primary election are as yet very incomplete for Democratic candidates on the state ticket. It is known, however, that Marcus Smith of Tucson has defeated Eugene S. Ives of Tucson for the second Democratic nomination for the United States senate, and will run with Henry F. Ashurst of Prescott, against Ralph A. Cameron of Flagstaff and Hovall A. Smith of Bisbee, the Republican candidates.

Carl Hayden, Democrat, of Phoenix, and John S. Williams of Tombstone, Republican, are the nominees for congress. The Democrats named George W. F. Hunt of Globe for governor and the Republicans, Edward W. Wells of Prescott.

EIGHT COLORADOANS LUCKY

DENVER, Oct. 26.—Eight Coloradoans have so far won places in the Rosebud and Pine Ridge land drawings held at Gregory, S. D. In addition to those who drew within the first thousand, three Denver men and one Canon City entrant drew in the two to three places.

The eight are as follows: W. J. Bland, Burlington, No. 421; Henry H. Bahamson, Rocky Ford, No. 641; W. C. Stewart, 538 Downing street, Denver, No. 845; H. E. McClelland, 226 South Washington street, Denver, No. 814; J. H. Gavin, 4618 Alcott street, Denver, No. 2178; Clint H. Peterson, 1545 West Bayard avenue, Denver, No. 2465; John A. Charles, Canon City, No. 2785.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the office of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—she said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing that I had to get it, I insisted, and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me."

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will."—MRS. JANET L. 2978 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

COURT REFUSES TO ISSUE INJUNCTION

Takes Action in Salt Lake Case—Others Are Reserved for Decision

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—At the conclusion today of the arguments in the Pacific coast cases, the commerce court declined to grant a temporary injunction in the Salt Lake case, as requested by the transcontinental carrier.

The interstate commerce commission issued an order requiring the transcontinental railways to adjust their rates to Utah and Nevada points so as to avoid discrimination of Pacific coast terminals, to become effective November 15.

These decisions by the commission involving the construction of the long and short-haul provision of the interstate commerce act were reserved for decision, but the Salt Lake cases, in which the railways had asked for an injunction restraining the commission from putting into effect its order, was decided by the court adversely to the railways.

The other cases, including the long-pending Spokane rate case, in which the railways have asked for an injunction to prevent the commission from enforcing its orders, probably will be decided in a few days.

CHINESE THRONE IS IN HANDS ASSEMBLY

PEKIN, Oct. 26.—The throne today surrendered to Tzu Cheng Yuan, China's national assembly, and in compliance with its demands, dismissed Sheng Hsuan Hui, minister of posts and communications, ordered Prince Ching, president of the cabinet, before a board of inquiry, where he doubtless will be severely dealt with, released from custody the president of the Szechuen provincial assembly and other leaders in the riots at Chengtu, and in fact, agreed to all that the assembly asked, with lack of dignity inconceivable to western observers. Until a month ago, the throne, defiant of the people, issued edicts embodying drastic measures.

Now the resolution of the newly convened assembly, carrying consequences of irremediable character, has been granted without a day's consideration.

The edict repeats over the throne's seat the allegations and charges made against the minister of posts and communications and others made by a heated, radical and controlled assembly, but Chinese affairs cannot be judged by western standards. It will be considered here, however, that the throne acted wisely, that it recognized its defeat, and submitted to force. Even the degraded ministers are not likely to bear serious ill-will.

The appointment of Tang Shao Yi to succeed Sheng Hsuan Hui, is believed to forecast the appointment of Yuan Shi Kai to the second office in the cabinet if not to the premiership. It is reported that Yuan already is negotiating with the rebels and members of the legation who are old in experience in Chinese affairs would be surprised if the revolution terminated practically without further fighting through the government granting complete and immediate constitutional government.

Tehang's Death Not Verified. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—A dispatch received by the Chinese-Free Press here today, fails to verify the report from Shanghai that Gen. Yin Tehang, special minister of war, has been assassinated by his own troops. The cable says the general is in danger and that it is feared he will be put to death but as yet there has been no outbreak among his soldiers.

Canton Reported Captured. LONDON, Oct. 26.—A news dispatch from Shanghai says a report has reached there that the rebels have captured Canton after great slaughter and that they are preparing for an immediate advance on Peking.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 26.—Chinese official telegram report that Foochow has fallen and that the customs have been seized by the rebels. Foochow is one of the treaty ports and capital of the province of Fu Kien. The population is about 700,000.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Rear Admiral Murray, commander in chief of the Asiatic station, will sail from Manila tomorrow on the Rainbow for Shanghai. He will be followed in a few days by his flagship Saratoga.

He will give his undivided attention to directing the movement of the American war vessels in Chinese waters so as to secure the greatest measure of protection for Americans and Europeans.

GOVERNMENT TAKING (Continued From Page One.) counsel for the defense of John J. and James B. McNamara and attracted attention in the offices of District Attorney John D. Fredericks as well. Clarence S. Darrow, chief of counsel for the defense, telegraphed to Indianapolis for more information. A list in the court procedure today while a new venire was being summoned gave opportunity for consideration of the subject.

TURKS TRAP ENEMY, SLAUGHTERING MANY

MALTA, Oct. 26.—The Italian reverse in Tripoli on October 23, according to steamship passengers just arrived here amounted almost to a rout. An Italian outpost during a reconnaissance encountered a Turkish outpost which followed. The Italians followed back on all sides. Three companies of light infantry were totally annihilated. Several officers were made prisoners, mutilated and hanged by irregulars.

The return of the rest of the Italian force carrying many wounded, sold to be about 400, caused excitement among the Arabs of Tripoli. They attempted to revolt, firing many shots and wounding many Italians. The attempt was soon quelled and hundreds of musketeers were shot.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Four hundred Italians were killed or wounded in the fighting around Tripoli on Monday and Tuesday, according to a news agency dispatch received here today from Tripoli, which escaped Italian censorship.

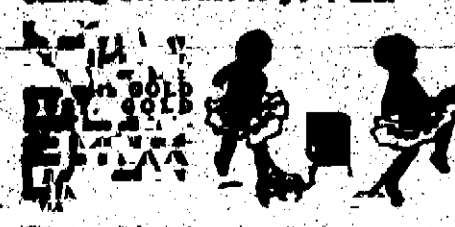

The situation at Tripoli, the dispatch adds, is serious. European residents fear a massacre as a holy war has been proclaimed by the natives.

WHITE SLAYER TO PRISON

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 26.—W. J. Boyne, a piano player in the restricted district here, plead guilty today to "white slaving" and was sentenced to two and a half years imprisonment in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

Pearl Hall, owner of a resort, also plead guilty, but as the court announced it was aware of sending a woman to the federal prison, she was fined $1,000.

Boyne was charged with having brought a Los Angeles girl to Tucson on the pretext that she was to be given a place as clerk in a candy store and had then taken her to Pearl Hall's resort.

Suit Against Auditor of State Set for November 1

DENVER, Oct. 26.—Judge Bliss, of the district court this morning set November 1 as the day upon which he would take up the suit of the Provera county commissioners against State Auditor Lody. The suit involves the validity of house bill No. 200, and seeks to compel the auditor to show cause why he should not honor vouchers from Provera county covering road improvement expenditures, which were provided for in the bill mentioned.

All the counties in the state are interested as upon the outcome of the suit will depend whether or not the highway commission has the authority to expend the $200,000 appropriated for road and highway improvements throughout the state.

PRESIDENT'S WELCOME TO WISCONSIN CORDIAL

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 26.—President Taft received a cordial welcome into Wisconsin today.

At Oshkosh, the president drifted into a discussion of his tariff vetoes, but added so with the explanation that he felt that the people at large had the right to hear from a president his reasons for an important executive action.

Not the least interesting event of the day was the president's visit to Fond du Lac. That city had once withdrawn its invitation to the president when it was announced that his time there would be somewhat curtailed. Mayor Wolff sent the telegram canceling the invitation and suggested rather sharply that the president might as well give all his time to Appleton and Oshkosh. The invitation was renewed and accepted. Today the entire city turned out to bid him welcome. Gen. E. S. Bragg presided at the Fond du Lac meeting.

Mr. Taft's first speech of the day was at Green Bay. His subject there was "Peace." Next came Appleton, in the heart of a paper manufacturing district. The president frankly answered a series of questions put to him in writing by the local commercial club, asking an explanation of his course in favoring the print paper and pulp agreements in the Canadian reciprocity act.

The president's constant speaking out of doors today in the cold, damp atmosphere had a serious effect upon his voice, and when he faced an audience that filled the vast Milwaukee auditorium, tonight, he spoke with the greatest difficulty.

Milwaukee is the Socialist stronghold in the United States, and when President Taft declared that the suppression of competition surely would lead to state socialism, there was a burst of applause.

"I am an individualist," exclaimed the president, "and I believe in individual effort as opposed to state socialism."

This called out a counter demonstration of approval far more noisy than the Socialist applause.

HYDE VENIRE EXHAUSTED

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 26.—The entire venire summoned in the case of Dr. B. C. Hyde charged with the murder of Col. Thomas H. Swaine, was exhausted today. Three temporary jurors were selected from the 25 remaining veniremen. Eight men have been tentatively chosen for the jury, leaving 25 to be selected. From those 25, 12 men will be peremptorily challenged, leaving 12 to try the case.

A new venire probably will be drawn tomorrow.

WILLIAMS BAY, Wis., Oct. 26.—A new planet is rapidly approaching the earth. Astronomers have sighted it twice and the Yerkes observatory scientists are maintaining a constant watch for it.

The new heavenly body bodes no ill for terrestrial conditions according to Professor Frost of the observatory. It is not large, say the astronomers, and is one of the some 300 similar small bodies called asteroids.

Killing of Bundy Was Justifiable Homicide

TRINIDAD, Oct. 26.—The killing of J. W. Bundy, automobile driver, by Allan Fowler, former city treasurer, who stabbed Bundy to death with a knife, Tuesday night, tonight was termed "justifiable homicide" by a coroner's jury, after a few seconds' deliberation, following an inquest over Bundy's body. Fowler was released from jail immediately after the verdict and sent to his home here.

Testimony at the inquest by Fowler's daughters, Ruby and Hilda, was to the effect that Bundy had been introduced to them earlier in the afternoon by Charles Samuels and that he, under pretext of taking them for an automobile ride, endeavored to get them to accompany him to a hotel, where he had engaged a room.

The inquest was held behind locked doors, and the participants declined to disclose the full nature of the proceedings.

BUILDER OF COG ROAD DIES

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 26.—Charles J. Lantry, railroad contractor of Kansas City, who built the Pike's Peak Cog Wheel railroad, died here tonight from an attack of pneumonia. He also built the Reizen outfall of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad and filled in the China basin of San Francisco bay.

COULD NOT SLEEP WITH ITCHING RASH

All-Over Baby's Body, Head and Face. Scratching Made Sores. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Have Had No Further Trouble.

"On July 27, 1909, we left Boston for a trip to England and Ireland, taking baby with us. After being to Ireland a few days a nasty rash came out all over baby's body, head and face. It was itchy and sore. We took him to a doctor. His medicine was chicken pox, and gave us medicine for him. The trouble started in the form of a rash and it was all over baby's body, head and face. At different times, it irritated, and he could scratch it with all his might. The consequence was it developed into sores, and we were afraid it would leave nasty scars on his face. When we reached England we took baby to another doctor, who said his condition was due to change of food and climate, and gave more medicine. The rash got no better, and it used to itch and burn, as well as had had the rash and could not sleep. He was completely covered with it at different times. It was at this time that my mother advised us to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment for about nine months the place disappeared. There are not any scars, or other kind of disfigurement, and baby is completely cured by the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. We have had no further trouble with baby's skin. Nothing stopped the itching, and allowed baby to sleep but Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Margaret Gung, 28 Burrell St., Roxbury, Boston, Mass., March 12, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 144, Boston, for free sample of a whole skin on the.

OUR DRUGS

Anybody can hire a sign painter to paint "PURE DRUGS AND PRESCRIPTIONS A SPECIALTY" on their window or front of store.

It's an awful old chestnut to advertise PURE DRUGS. All legitimate drug stores are supposed to keep only "Pure Drugs."

We are very sure our strychnine is pure, but if you should take it instead of quinine the results would undoubtedly be disastrous. Every package of drugs or chemicals in our store bears the government guaranteed stamp of purity, but that is only the beginning. What keeps our customers is the care used in dispensing the drugs and chemicals. When we advertise "Prescription a Specialty" it means SOMETHING. We employ only men of "INTELLIGENCE, training and experience in our prescription department."

This costs us a lot of money in a year's time, but you can have the benefit of this EXTRA CARE and CAUTION without ONE EXTRA CENT OF COST. Think about this the next time you want a prescription filled.

MEN'S BANQUET FEATURE OF BAPTIST CONVENTION

The greatest social and inspirational gathering of the Colorado Baptist convention was the men's banquet at the Alamo hotel at 5:30 o'clock last evening. Practically all pastors of the Baptist churches of the state, together with a score of prominent laymen, sat down together, to eat, to drink and to plan together. The arrangements were made by Dr. J. H. Franklin, and nothing marred the harmonious and happy gathering.

Dr. Emory W. Hunt was the guest of honor. He holds the highest executive office among northern Baptists, as president of the national convention. Prof. M. C. Gile of Colorado college acted as toastmaster and introduced "Josh" Gravett of Denver, who spoke on "The Place of Prayer." The next speaker was H. D. Baughner of Denver, who outlined "The Men and Religious Movement." Dr. T. Pulliam of Loveland gave an address on "Keeping Books for God." Frank Perry of Denver, treasurer of the state convention, made a short address.

The greatest enthusiasm was reached when Rev. L. E. Sherman of this city was introduced, and the applause continued for several minutes before he spoke of his remarkable recovery from death in Canada last summer. President Hunt made a most telling speech on "The Biggest Thing on Earth—a Christian."

MARRIAGE—W. T. Kimball of Monte Vista and Mrs. Sarah Wille Majors of Loveland were married in the parlors of the Alamo hotel last night at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Kaufman of Loveland officiating. The groom is attending the annual Baptist state convention in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Kimball will remain at the Alamo for several days.

RELATIVES AFTER MONEY WOMAN LEFT TO MISSONS

GREELEY, Colo., Oct. 26.—The will of Mrs. Mary Nixon of New Lexington, O., who died here a few weeks ago leaving property valued at $20,000 to Methodist missions and hospitals in the Zanesville district, may be contested on the ground that Mrs. Nixon was acting under the delusion that her relatives were unfriendly to her and did not care to have her about, when in fact it is said they were kind and loyal. Mrs. Nixon, a widow and an influential business woman of Ohio, made her money in the drug business. She died here about two months ago of tuberculosis. Before dying she called in three persons to witness her will.

WOMEN JURORS LOSE FIGHT TO KEEP MEN FROM SMOKING

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 26.—The council of women voters lost its fight to stop smoking in jury rooms when women are members of the jury, but won other reforms asked in the memorial filed Monday with the county commissioners. The commissioners decided yesterday to employ a woman bailiff for each department of the superior court and arrange separate rooms to be used by the women jurors when a jury is out all night. The women thought to have an order issued forbidding men on a jury to smoke when women are members of the jury but the commissioners refused to issue such an order because of the large number of men they believe would resent such a ruling.

TO SAVE VOICES OF GREAT MEN FOR POSTERITY'S USE

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Posterity will not have to depend upon what it can read between the covers of books for its knowledge of the great men and great incidents of this age. If the plans of a new organization styling itself the Modern Historic Records association are carried out.

THIEVES CUT GIRL'S HAIR

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 26.—Mae Bonaparte, a pretty young artist's model, whose chief physical feature was her wealth of chestnut brown hair, was attacked at midnight last night while passing a hedge-bound cemetery on her way home in North Newark, N. J. Two ruffians jumped through the hedge, seized her, cut off her hair, grabbed her handbag containing a small sum of money and fled. A posse is today searching for them.

News of Local Courts

Jerry Carter and Jack Burns are in the county jail and will be tried in Justice Gowdy's court on a charge of larceny and robbery. It is alleged they broke into a clothing store on East Cucharas street early in the week and stole four suits of clothes and two overcoats.

A. G. Green of Manitou will be tried in Justice Gowdy's court today or tomorrow on a charge of cruelty to animals. Green, it is alleged, stabbed a bull dog when the animal attacked a pet terrier belonging to him in an effort to save his own dog's life. The bull dog died.

Evelyn Grace Drew has been granted a divorce in the county court from Stephen M. Drew on the ground of cruelty. The couple were married in Enid, Okla., in April, 1908. Alleging nonsupport, Mabel M. Worth secured a divorce from Omar L. Worth. They were married in Colorado Springs in July, 1909.

In the county court yesterday, Lola J. Hassler filed suit for divorce from Alpha M. Hassler, alleging cruelty. They were married in Oklahoma City in 1901.

Phil Moore, convicted of larceny, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Shearer to serve from four to five years in the penitentiary. Moore, it is said, took a traveling life at the Denver and Rio Grande station several months ago, when a woman tourist left it unguarded.

C. T. McKee, charged with burglary, yesterday was sentenced to an indefinite term in the reformatory at Buena Vista.

MACK'S ATHLETICS WIN WORLD SERIES FOR SECOND TIME

SPITBALL HAS IMPROVED NATIONAL GAME

RY MAKING IT FASTER, SAYS H. JENNINGS

CHAMPIONS SLAUGHTER GIANTS IN SIXTH

GAME AND CARRY OFF WORLD'S PENNANT

By N. B. BEASLEY
DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 26.—"The use of the spitball has improved present-day baseball more than any other thing," declares Hugh Jennings, manager of the Detroit American league team. "The spitball has made the game faster and more scientific than it was 10, 15, or 20 years ago, and many players, who were classed as stars in the 'olden days' would be considered of but ordinary ability now."

TIGERS AND BOULDER TO MEET NEXT WEEK

Boulder looms up as the next football bogey-man to be encountered by Colorado college, and with the game out a week off, Coach Rothgeb is making every effort to point the Tigers or what will probably be the hardest game of the season.

An advantage of about six pounds per man is given the university team, but to date this is the only point the Tigers are willing to concede to the state institution. Rothgeb is not overlooking the fact, however, that Boulder this year is lightening fast, especially the backfield quartet, and while it is generally conceded around the circuit that the Tigers are also a shift of it, they will need all of their speed when they go to Boulder a week from tomorrow.

While stories from the state institution football camp are to the effect that Boulder expects a hard and close game tomorrow with Wyoming university, it will not be much of a surprise to see the Colorado team defeat the Cowboys by a score equal, if not greater, than that of the Tigers. If Boulder does not win by a comfortable margin, it may be pulled in order to fool the Tigers.

Coach Rothgeb is experimenting this week by playing Koch at tackle in place of Floyd, and Summers at guard in place of Moberg. This transfer will give the Tigers more weight in the line.

Boulder will average heavier in the line than Colorado college, and the two backfields will tip the scales at about the same poundage.

GOTCH'S FATHER DEAD

DENVER, Oct. 26.—Frank A. Gotch, world's champion wrestler, failed to show up for an exhibition bout at Fort Collins, tonight, and late tonight indications were that he would not meet his engagement with Mahmut in Denver, because of the death of the champion's father, in Iowa. Gotch and Mahmut were to have wrestled here tomorrow afternoon.

FOWLER MAY FLY FROM YUMA TODAY

YUMA, Ariz., Oct. 26.—Aviator Robert G. Fowler is planned in Yuma today, working on his engine. Two of his mechanics arrived last night and Fowler hopes to have the airplane in readiness for a flight tomorrow.

RACES AT SPOKANE

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 26.—Jockey Frach, as the hero of today's program, piloting the last three minutes to victory and establishing a record for the meeting. Jockey Holmes rode two winners.

HIGH PRIVATE WINS

LATONIA, Oct. 26.—High Private after a drive lasting through the stretch managed to win the feature event at Latonia today from Governor Gray by half a length.

RESULTS AT LAUREL

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 26.—The feature event this afternoon was the handicap, won under a drive by Sir John Chapin, and the novelty race, won by R. Kennedy, one of the foot runners. The track was lightning fast.

It is time for "Battling" Nelson to quit the ring. He should have done so long ago. It would be a shame for a grand old gladiator like Nelson to be going along the street in a few years in front of people who will pity him.

"Of course there were players in the old National league who were remarkable and who would be considered as such now. Anson, Brubaker, Sunday and some others would easily hold their own against the present pitchers, but they would not repeat their heavy batting performances. In their day each club had one, and at the most two, good pitchers. Now the major league clubs have three and four star pitchers each, and there is a continuance of lean days for the sluggers."

"One instance of heavy slugging that could hardly be repeated in the major leagues now was that of big Dan Brubaker, who in a Detroit-Chicago game of 25 years ago made three home runs off McCormick. Brubaker was a slow man on the bases, and the Chicago fielders at that time were not marveles in speed. In the game now speed is essential for an outfielder."

"Another condition that was responsible for the heavy batting averages was that the catcher stood 20 or more feet back of the plate. All that was necessary to get a hit was to dump the ball in front of the plate, and there was no chance to get the runner. The catcher couldn't go out fast enough, and the pitcher could not come under existing conditions even fast now. Like Cobb, Jackson, Collins, Crow and others are thrown out by the catcher on balls in front of the plate. "The present-day batter is a thinker. He tries to outwit the pitcher. In days gone by the pitcher threw the ball with all his speed, and the batter usually swung blindly at it. To be a good batter now it is essential that the brain be used with the same degree that the hands are brought into play. A slugger of the old type would appear foolish if arrayed against a modern pitcher."

"The opportunity to steal bases has been considerably lessened by the moving up of the catcher. To go down now a runner must be fast, and he must be able to outwit the entire infield of the opposing team. There are a number of base runners today who could steal at will were the catcher in a position 15 or 20 feet behind the batsman."

"To play baseball now a man must not only use his feet and hands, but his brain is the important cog in the machine. There are players with as much physical ability as Cobb, but they do not use their thinking powers. That is why Cobb is the greatest ball player the world has ever seen."

Orville Wright, who with his brother, Wilbur, are experimenting with a new glider at Kitty Hawk, N. C. In one of the trial flights recently Orville was dashed to earth and wrecked the glider and sustained slight injuries. It is believed that the brothers have solved the problem of automatic stability and flight with lessened momentum.

Athletics Take All the Honors

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—The official batting and fielding averages of the Athletics and New York players in the world's series, compiled by the official scorers, were made public tonight.

For the world's champions, Baker leads at the bat, with an average in the six games of .375. Barry is second, with .368, and Murphy third, with .304. The team batting average is .309. Lord and Davis are the only Philadelphia players who took part in the six games with a fielding average of 1.000.

Trandall leads the Athletics at the bat with an average of .500, but he only took part in three games. Of the players who took part in the six games, Doyle leads, with a percentage of .304. Meyers is second, with .300, and Herzog, third, with .250. Mathewson has an average of .250, but he was in but three games. The team batting average is .175.

Snodgrass and Meyers each have a fielding average of 1.000 in the six games. Murray made the poorest showing of any Giant. He did not make a hit, and his fielding is rated at .625.

The Athletics excelled in every department of the game with the exception of stolen bases, and they are tied with their opponents at four.

TERRORS AND VICTOR PLAY HERE TOMORROW

In preparation for tomorrow's games the first and second high school teams were given a stiff scrimmage workout last evening by Coach Coffin.

The Terrors play the Victor high school team at Washburn field tomorrow afternoon, while the second team goes to Cripple Creek to play the gold camp eleven.

Richardson, the only player who was badly injured in last Saturday's game with the Bender freshmen, is again in the Terrors' lineup, although Coach Coffin has shifted him from fullback to tackle. Johns is playing fullback with Nifong and Cheese the halves.

McGregor's game should go to the Terrors, although the Victor team is big and fast. The high school, however, is expected to show the best football.

MAXWELL TEAM WINS 1911 GLIDDEN TROPHY

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 26.—In one of the hardest fights experienced in this section in many months, the Glidden teamers reached the end of the 1911 tour here shortly after noon today. The Maxwell team, the only team entry to come in with a perfect score, was awarded the famous Glidden trophy.

later when Murphy pitched an easy game, when this Philadelphia was driven to trouble.

New York took a lead in the third and one in the fifth, but the Athletics appeared to be down and Baker hit him for a single and subsequently scored. It was his third game. Bender pitched and his second victory in three days.

Before the fourth inning the Athletics and the Giants had a total of eight errors were made by the two teams, the count was 10-10. Numerous plays, especially the exciting crowd to its feet. Bender hit Miller for New York, but lost a second game. Three-base hit by a great spring, catching his long fly in center field. Baker and Davis made sensational running catches on foul flies, and Collins electrified the spectators by a stop and throw of a terrific grounder back of the second base that no one thought he could reach.

Smallest Crowd of Series.

The Philadelphia team was charged with five errors and all of them were made on easy chances. Two of New York's three errors were wild throws, which practically started their downfall.

Before the game began it looked as though Philadelphia would be the pitcher and there was some surprise among the enthusiasts when Connie Mack sent Bender into the box. The chief proof he could pitch more than twice a week.

Philadelphia made nine hits and 11 runs in the two feature innings of the game. In the fourth, with the score 3-0, Bender opened the inning with a slashing single to center field. The crowd called on Murphy to bring him around and he almost did it by landing a bunt on third with a single to center field. The veteran Davis then came up and hit a grounder to Doyle, who threw to the pitcher, but Baker was in with the run by a beautiful slide under Meyers.

The crowd that saw the Athletics with the championship was the smallest of the series, numbering 30,485, but what it lacked in numbers was made up in enthusiasm. There was little noise until the third inning, when the home team out losses in the fourth and subsequent rounds there was never a lull in the cheering.

Every player was given a rousing hand as he stepped to the plate. Rank errors were overlooked and finally the Athletics so far outclassed the Giants in the hitting department, that the crowd began to cheer in derision every time an Athletic player was thrown out by a New York man.

The fourth inning was noisy but it was nothing compared to the seventh, when the Athletics stepped to the plate and took a crack at the pitchers.

Melnes Given a Chance.

A bit of sentiment on the part of Captain Harry Davis was cheered when he sent the injured Melnes into the game in the ninth.

"Stuffy" took the last pitch and officially figured in the series.

"Chief" Meyers also pitched near the end of the game in favor of Wilson, probably for the same reason.

A bit of sentiment on the part of Captain Harry Davis was cheered when he sent the injured Melnes into the game in the ninth.

"Stuffy" took the last pitch and officially figured in the series.

"Chief" Meyers also pitched near the end of the game in favor of Wilson, probably for the same reason.

Before the game began it looked as though Philadelphia would be the pitcher and there was some surprise among the enthusiasts when Connie Mack sent Bender into the box. The chief proof he could pitch more than twice a week.

Philadelphia made nine hits and 11 runs in the two feature innings of the game. In the fourth, with the score 3-0, Bender opened the inning with a slashing single to center field. The crowd called on Murphy to bring him around and he almost did it by landing a bunt on third with a single to center field. The veteran Davis then came up and hit a grounder to Doyle, who threw to the pitcher, but Baker was in with the run by a beautiful slide under Meyers.

The crowd that saw the Athletics with the championship was the smallest of the series, numbering 30,485, but what it lacked in numbers was made up in enthusiasm. There was little noise until the third inning, when the home team out losses in the fourth and subsequent rounds there was never a lull in the cheering.

Every player was given a rousing hand as he stepped to the plate. Rank errors were overlooked and finally the Athletics so far outclassed the Giants in the hitting department, that the crowd began to cheer in derision every time an Athletic player was thrown out by a New York man.

The fourth inning was noisy but it was nothing compared to the seventh, when the Athletics stepped to the plate and took a crack at the pitchers.

WE NEED GOOD ROADS

AT the election last November the people of El Paso County were asked to vote a bond issue of $110,000 for the construction of good roads. This money was to have been spent all over the county. If the bond issue had carried every section would have profited, but it did not carry. The question was not decided altogether on its merits, but partly because of its assumed relationship to purely political aspects of the campaign. The bond issue was defeated by a very small margin.

In the year that has elapsed since that event the people have acquired a new interest in the subject of good roads, due partly to better information and acquaintance with them. The Canon City road, built by convict labor and completed to the top of Red Hill, has been traveled by thousands who previously had not had the privilege of seeing a really modern road in Colorado. The automobile is coming into more extensive use daily; its price is rapidly getting down to a figure within the reach of the man in moderate circumstances, and every new purchaser of an automobile is another convert to the cause of good roads.

Again, people in Colorado Springs have been doing a good deal of thinking in the last year about the commercial value of good roads as an attraction to tourists. It probably is a safe assertion that twice as many visiting motor-cars were here last summer as in any previous season. Seventy-three of them were entered in the automobile parade of the Carnival from Oklahoma alone, and the actual number of visiting machines here during the summer must have been three or four times as large. The owners of these cars were out for a summer vacation, and they came to the Pikes Peak Region to see the sights and enjoy the beautiful drives hereabouts. But if, instead of a few well kept roads such as the Mesa Drive, the Canon City road, the Palmer Park drives, etc., we had a complete system of modern highways reaching every part of the county, and if, moreover, this fact was thoroughly advertised, there is not the slightest doubt that Colorado Springs would be visited annually by thousands, instead of hundreds of automobile parties.

NOT A COSTLY ENTERPRISE.

Modern road building, even in the mountains, is not as costly as may be supposed, because the use of convict labor materially reduces the most important item of expense. And on the plains, to the north, east and south of Colorado Springs, the cost of road building is almost trivial. There are fairly good roads going east from here on which not a single dollar has ever been spent, but they are good because the country is perfectly level and the soil is a natural road material. If the motorist keeps his car in the main track he can drive for miles at a rate of 40 or 50 miles an hour with perfect safety, but only when his wheels follow the main track. He cannot turn to avoid another vehicle, except at slow speed, for these roads never have been graded. An average expenditure of even one hundred dollars a mile would make splendid highways on such primitive roads, but at present even this cannot be done because the funds are lacking.

The people of El Paso County ought to think this question over seriously. At the next election, in November, 1912, they can, if they will, vote a bond issue sufficient to build an adequate system of improved roads throughout the county. And the cost would be returned to them tenfold in the succeeding years in the resultant increase of land values, the greater ease with which farmers and ranchmen could market their products in Colorado Springs, and the additional patronage of automobile tourists.

All over the country there is a renewed interest in road building, and Colorado Springs, which prides itself on its progressive spirit, cannot afford to lag behind. The road bond issue ought to be revived and submitted to the people at the November election next year, for if this is done, there is good reason to believe that it would carry by a substantial majority. El Paso

County needs good roads and needs them so much that it can well afford to pay whatever they may cost.

SOME DENVER SWELLS

WE clip these brief but interesting accounts of the doings of Denver swells from the society columns of the Rocky Mountain News:

Colonel John Jacob Astor and his bride have left Ferncliff, their home on the river at Rhinebeck, on board the Noma, bound for Bermuda, where they expect to stay a month. They are going back to Ferncliff. It is learned that Colonel Astor will not follow his usual custom of spending the winter months in the tropics or in New York. He and Mrs. Astor have made plans to spend almost the entire winter at Rhinebeck. A whole winter in the country will be a novel experience for Mrs. Astor, but she is fond of outdoor life. It is predicted she will find ice boating, which is good nearly all winter above Rouses Point, enjoyable. Colonel Astor and his son, Vincent Astor, are enthusiastic ice yachtsmen, and own three or four yachts.

Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch, who married Grand Duchess Xenia, the czar's elder sister, is coming to America next spring to study the shipbuilding yards here. When President Taft was on his last world journey he met the grand duke at St. Petersburg, and invited him to America. He will be eagerly sought after by society while he is here.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., has returned from Europe, accompanied by her children, the Misses Marjorie and Consuelo Vanderbilt and William K. Vanderbilt, third, all of whom are now established at their country home on Long Island.

Mrs. George Gould is wearing a mourning collar of pearls that makes some people smile and commands the eyed respect of others according to the disposition and cynicism of the beholder. Mrs. Kibben, Mrs. Gould's mother, died not long ago and to show her deep grief Mrs. Gould had New York jewelers search the classy shops of Europe for matched black pearls, out of which a magnificent dog collar has been constructed. With the dog collar two artistic rings set with black pearls also herald to the world that Mrs. Gould is in mourning.

It must be a tremendous consolation to readers of The Denver News to keep track of the social doings of their fellow townsmen, the Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch, the Grand Duchess Xenia, the Astors, the Vanderbilts and the Goulds. And what a joy it must be to the aspiring wife of one of Denver's new-made millionaires to find the account of her own little social doings sandwiched in between the reports of the doings of Russian royalty and New York swelldom!

Sunflower Philosophy

The idle rich are trifling folk whose only end and aim is just to make this life a joke, and play it as a game; they bore themselves the long year through with pleasure, ease and ease, and when there is nothing else to do they seek for a divorce. I can't admit those sporty idle rich guys who laugh at love and law and try to show that marriage ties are fetters made of straw. To swap their wives they go to court and keep their lawyers hoarse; there's something wrong with guys whose sport is hustling for divorce. The idle rich who never earned a dollar of their pile aren't worth the gasoline they've burned in searching half a mile. Some fresh sensation still they seek at ring or racing course, and go to court three times a week to ask for a divorce. One honest workman who comes with shovel in his hand, outvalues all the glided bums in this wealth-rotten land. The man who has his work to do remains a moral force, and ought to shame the idle crew whose pastime is divorce.

THE DAILY CHIT CHAT

Did it ever occur to you how astonishingly little most of us see of all that we look at?

The other day I was asked what was the color of a house next door to the hotel in which I had stopped several days and I actually couldn't say.

And yet I must have looked at that house at least a hundred times.

Thoughtless I am remarkably unobservant; but I fancy many people have similar, if not as inexcusable, experiences.

I read the other day that when a test of this sort was made to see how observant school children are, many of the children questioned could not tell whether the columns in the vestibule of the building which they passed daily were round or square. Some of them, furthermore, had not even noticed the peculiar shape of a triangular window in the wall above the teacher's head, although they must have looked at this aperture half a hundred times daily.

A party which I once attended one of the prizes was for each person to pass by a table loaded with all kinds of objects and then to write down the names of as many of the articles as he could remember. There was a prize for the person with the longest list, but although there were 50 objects on the table I remember that the prize-winner had named only 20. The rest of us ranged from there down to 10 or 12.

Nor was this because it is not possible for even an observing human being to take in so much in a short time. Why, it is pointed out in the celebrated Houdini that he could run past a shop window in Paris, cast into it a single glance and enumerate correctly every one of a hundred different articles displayed there.

The trouble is that most of us do not train ourselves to see what we look at.

It seems to me that the game I mentioned would be an excellent thing with which to amuse the children some rainy afternoon and incidentally give them a sugar-coated pill of benefit.

And as far as that goes, I do think it would not do any harm for some of us grownups to try similar experiments.

After you pass a shop window try to recall as many articles as possible.

See if you can tell what color all the houses on your street or in your immediate neighborhood are.

Try to recall what are the objects of furniture in some friend's living room.

Look at your desk or your bureau for a few seconds and then shut your eyes and see if you can correctly enumerate every article upon it.

Another interesting experiment is to look at some familiar object very intently and see if you cannot discover something about it that you never noticed before.

In nine cases out of ten you can.

The other day I was obliged to wait for a train in a very unpleasant spot where the most interesting things to look at were half a dozen pigeons which were strutting up and down the track, pecking up some grain which had providentially overflowed from a freight car.

I looked at those pigeons as I had never looked at pigeons before and soon I noticed the most peculiar coincidence between the motion of the feet and the motion of the head. It seemed as if they must be fastened together by some internal spring. Now I've carefully looked at pigeons a thousand times before, but I never noticed that, because I never really observed them intently.

We first at once really observed them intently, that we cannot afford to travel and see distant lands. But how few of us really look at our own land, our own town, our own street and neighborhood with anything like keeling eyes.

OPEN-PARLIAMENT

PIONEER WOMEN.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

After the meeting described in my letter of October 15, to The Gazette, a month was wasted in a personal effort to secure 12 men to stand as sponsors for Colorado college and to take general charge of endowment work.

On account of business uncertainty and pressure General Palmer could do nothing. Most of our business men absolutely refused to give either time, money or money to the college. Each man excused himself on the ground that it was not possible, as a sensible man, to take upon himself further responsibility of any nature whatsoever, in face of present financial conditions.

The further claim was made by many, that to save the credit of the college at the break-up at the close of the winter term, March, 1875, when Rev. Jonathan Edwards resigned as head of the institution, and his brother-in-law, Professor Thomas Nelson Haskell resigned as financial agent, saying: "The financial world is paralyzed beyond all present power to help," and when the college was found to be seriously in debt, we pledged to Rev. James C. Dougherty, whom the trustees had called to the presidency, what we had to give our notes to settle which were discounted at the bank and which we found great difficulty in making good.

One of the now wealthy men of this city whom we all delight to honor, told me that he gave his note for $75 and the conditions became such that it took him in small sums a long time to pay it. Another man said: "Professor, you were not mean, but it was hard to give, when the children poorly clad were not always certain of bread." I throw in those sideglances that justice may yet be done, often to those who refused to stand sponsors for Colorado college. I hesitate not to say, that to many of them greater credit is due for the miles they gave than is due to those who gave later liberality of their hundreds of thousands and millions. All this, however, was before I became connected with the college. To continue what came within my own knowledge. In our canvass for sponsors, of those who agreed to give any shading of assistance, there were only two men, D. Russ Wood and Major Henry McAllister, who did not stipulate, that they were "not to be held responsible for anything."

Finally President Dougherty despairing of accomplishing anything with the business men of the community, called upon a number of ladies, stated his need of home support, while in the east making a plea for financial aid, and urged them to come to his relief. On October 22, 1875, there was a meeting of active, powerful women at the Tejon street college building and an organization effected. Mrs. Douglas Ely, one of our most active and efficient workers, in the days of small things, writing me under date of July 17, 1890, said: "President Dougherty came to me and desired me to assist in the organization of women. This device, I complied with and our first meeting was held in the frame college building, October 22, 1875. Mrs. E. T. Wilkes was elected president, Miss Rose Wood (Dunkle-Pearson), treasurer, and myself secretary. Mrs. Wilkes was pastor of the Unitarian church. Our next president was Mrs. Mary F. Shields, a Methodist and greatly interested also in temperance work."

The list of members of the association would convince you that many denominations were interested in the work. Five out of 51 were Congregationalists, a spirit I greatly desired and worked for. The paper on which were printed circulars Nos. 1 and 2 was sent from Culver, Pa., by Hays and Co., of Chicago, as a gift, two sets and 1,000 envelopes, with other goods, by freight to Pueblo and from there, to myself, in Colorado Springs, by express. There were also sent four quarts of paper from Denver. This paper I distributed and sold to the ladies of the various denominations, who were members of the association, and was used by them, in corresponding with their friends and those they desired to interest in the college.

Today I take a great deal of pleasure in certifying to the great interest under the most unfavorable conditions, taken in the college by the ladies, in the college helping association, and to the great amount of work done by them. It is true the harvest was very small, but the ground was well sown, followed, cared for and saved for the future workers. To-day I am glad to look to these pioneer women, one must enter into the life and struggle going on in a community, with an estimated population of two thousand in which, according to the positive statements of Frank Goodard and Dr. Kimball, there were only eight families who could afford a servant and only one that could afford two. He must know and feel what the panic of 1873 meant and continued to mean during the remainder of the '70s, when every appeal for help was necessarily largely an appeal to those who were far from making ends meet and to many who were on the verge of financial despair.

I understood that there had been formed during Dr. Edwards' time an association among the village women, to work for Colorado college, but that very little was done as an association; and that the association was practically dead. During my 1875-76 year in charge of the college, I did not hear of one meeting. According to Mrs. Ely there were only five Congregationalists, who joined the association, formed October 22, 1875. This, however, is not to be construed as representing all the college workers in the Congregational and other churches. The fact is, every woman in the Congregational church and many in other churches who were not members of the October 22 association were doing all they could to help the college. The results were not more satisfactory than due to conditions, over which they had no control.

It is only fair to say that in those days the optimism in our stranded village, were nearly all among the women. Then we had very few women who were growers, or who put on aristocratic airs. It was the women who largely monopolized the faith and hope and nerve of our population. I regret that I cannot give at this moment the names of the 51 pioneer women who stood united for Colorado college, when every hour that they gave was an ordinary sacrifice. Nor can I today recollect all the faithful and more active workers even in the Congregational church. Among them, however, were Mother Ross and her daughter, Mrs. Frank L.

THE CIVIL WAR 50 YEARS AGO TODAY

MEMORIAL DAY, 1911.

A force of 700 Federal troops attacked and captured a small Confederate camp at Plattsburg, Clinton County, Mo., 15 miles south of the Hannibal and St. Joseph railroad. A number of cannon and small arms fell into their hands.

General McClellan reported the strength of the Army of the Potomac at 183,318, with 147,695 present for duty. Brig. Gen. William H. T. Walker, U. S. A., was at the promotion over his head of junior officers, resigned from the service at Richmond, Va.

Secretary Cameron issued an order to General Sherman in command of the military of the Port Royal expedition, instructing him to make use of negro contrabands. The order was in part as follows: "You will avail yourself of the services of all persons, whether or not fugitives from labor, who may offer themselves to the government, and employ them in such services as they may be suited for either as ordinary employees or in any other capacities, with such organizations into squads, companies or otherwise as you may deem beneficial to the service."

There was a serious scarcity of forage for mules and horses in the city of Washington, and a threatened shortage of provisions for the army. The railroad from Baltimore had proved itself inadequate to handle the equipment and the Potomac was closed to navigation by Confederate batteries.

Disew and Its Cure

By EDDY WOLFF.

CHOLERA MORBUS

This disease is purely in everyday language, a bad case of upset stomach. It is not caused by a germ of any kind, nor can one person catch it from another.

The first symptoms of cholera morbus are an intense dizziness, vomiting, diarrhoea, faintness, cold skin, cramps in the abdomen and prostration. These symptoms often become so severe as to cause the patient to lose consciousness and in many cases the weakness will continue long after the malady has been cured.

Cholera morbus is caused by eating a great quantity of indigestible food; or it may result from overloading the stomach with food, even though the food be easy to digest. It may also be caused by an excess of ice water, or by violent exercise after eating.

Any cause that will tend to cause an abnormal condition of the food in the stomach is likely to result in cholera morbus.

The treatment consists of emptying the digestive tract after which quieting medicines are administered, for the sake of calming the irritated and excited stomach. It is advisable that the services of a physician be employed.

GREATEST SUCKERS ON EARTH ARE AMERICAN MILLIONAIRES

From the American Magazine.

Take it from me, there's no bigger sucker on earth than an American millionaire who is setting up as a collector.

I'll stand for a line of talk that would make an Indiana farmer call for a cop. But you have to lead him on. I always begin with a Gerome, a rare Meisener, or a fine example of the late Sir Frederick Leighton. But in about six months he warms up and I have to get him pictures of the Fontainebleau school. In about two years he'll stand for nothing less than Rembrandt or Velasquez. Why, last winter, I had to find a triptych by Cimabue. It's pronounced "Chimney Roxy" who lived about a million years ago, and this guy had read about in Baskerville. It was a Rosenbloom and me back three thousand dollars to get the plant right. We had to find a palace in Florence and an Italian marquis who was forced to part with his ancestral treasures and a lot of old family retainers at three dollars a day, and then we nearly lost the customer because the wop that was boring the worm-holes in the triptych had a death in his family and laid off work for a month. If you ever go to Florence you want to see that worm-hole maker. He's the best in the business. He's president of the Worm-Hole Makers Union. He's an artist. Most of the old Italian furniture in America has worm-holes made by him. I think he must've started life as a worm. He came around all right and we sneaked the triptych out of Florence by night, on account of the public monument law which prevents Italians from selling these rare old treasures to foreigners. The man that bought it was a butcher. When Rosenbloom went to America the butcher took him around to see his collection. The kike knows more about pictures on the level than anyone living, and he told me that the average age of the butcher's collection was about two and a half years.

Rome, in whose house met the committee which located Colorado college at Colorado Springs, Mrs. Enoch B. Bartlett, Mrs. Richard C. Bristol, Mrs. John Jones, Mrs. Frederick L. Martin, Mrs. John Potter, Mrs. Edgar T. Ensign, Mrs. H. H. Stevens, Mrs. Andrew Sackendorf, Mrs. Dr. Palmer and others, were pioneers of pioneers. Later, during the now recognized pioneer years, the names of many splendid workers were added. The names, I am told, however, are all found in the archive records of Colorado college.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

October 27, 1881.

J. M. Bolton, foreman of The Gazette last year, returned from an extended eastern trip. Mr. Bolton is now vice-president of the Out West Printing and Stationery company.

Several teams passed through the city on their way to work on the line of the Denver and New Orleans railroad. This is the old line of the Colorado and Southern between Denver and Pueblo which passes through Manitou Junction, nine miles east of Colorado Springs.

The Democratic convention for the fourth judicial district comprising the counties of Elbert, Park, Chaffee, Douglas and El Paso, met in this city and nominated M. J. Bartley of Park county for district attorney.

An organized band of horse and cattle thieves which had been operating in Jefferson county was broken up by the arrest of eight of its members.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

October 27, 1891.

The contract was signed for a pipe organ for Grace church.

Jacob Becker of Manitou left for Cripple Creek with the intention of locating some mining claims there.

James Cook secured the arrest of two men, who gave the names of McCormick and Turner, whom he had caught ransacking his room.

Seven Valiant Seamen

History has always attached much importance to the Number Seven.

"Of all numbers there is one which commanded, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind." The Gazette has taken this charmed number, and has woven into stories on a variety of subjects a Series of Sevens, beginning each Monday and continuing during the week.

NO. 7 ANDREA DORIA

Andrea Doria was one of the greatest naval commanders and one of the truest patriots that the Republic of Genoa could ever boast. He was in the service of France; but when he found that Francis I. who had made him the general of his galleys and admiral of the Levant, had some designs upon the prosperity and freedom of Genoa, by repairing the fortifications and adding a citadel to the city of Savona, he addressed him in the following letter:

"Great Prince, he who makes use of the power of heaven has put into his hands, to reverse the common order of human affairs, employs it to a very bad purpose. The city of Genoa has always been the capital of Liguria, and prosperity will not behold without astonishment that your majesty has deprived it of that advantage without any reason. The Genoese perceive how your projects are likely to affect their interests. They entreat you to give them up and not to suffer the general good to be sacrificed to the interests of a few of your courtiers."

"I take the liberty to join my entreaties to those of my countrymen and to request this of you, as the reward of the services I have been able to render France. If circumstances lay your majesty under the necessity of wanting money, I will, in addition to the appointments which are due to me from your majesty, present you with four score thousand gold crowns."

Francis, startled by answer to this letter and Doria perceiving that the fortifications were still going on, told Francis that the Republic of Genoa would submit to anything sooner than see Savona torn from their dominions. He added, with respect to himself, I shall sacrifice the friendship of a king of France to the interests of my country."

Francis now ordered Doria, to be seized in the port of Genoa and brought prisoner to France; but he escaped with his vessels and returned soon after to Genoa. The highest ambition of Doria, on returning to his native country, was to deliver it from a foreign yoke and a favorable opportunity occurred. Afflicted by the pestilence, the city of Genoa was almost deserted by its inhabitants. The French garrison, being neither regularly paid nor recruited, was reduced to an inconsiderable number. Doria's emissaries found that such of the citizens who remained were alike weary of the French and the Imperial yoke, the rigor of which they had alternately experienced. They were ready to welcome him as their deliverer and to second all his measures. Things wearing this promising aspect, he sailed towards Genoa. On his approach the French galleys retired. A small body of men which he landed, surprised one of the gates of Genoa in the night time. The French governor, with his feeble garrison, shut himself up in the citadel, and Doria took possession of the town without resistance or the shedding of blood. Want of provisions soon constrained the French governor to capitulate. The people eager to abolish this monument of their servitude, ran together with a tumultuous violence, and leveled the citadel to the ground.

It was now in the power of Doria to have rendered himself the sovereign of his country, which he had liberated from oppression. But with a magnanimity of which there are but few examples, he sacrificed all thoughts of aggrandizement for himself, contenting himself with the virtuous satisfaction of establishing liberty in his country. Having assembled the whole body of the people in the court before his palace, he assures them that the happiness of seeing them once more in possession of their freedom, was to him a full reward for all his services. More delighted with the name of citizen than of sovereign, he claimed no preeminence or power above his equals, but submitted entirely to them the form of government they would now choose to be established among them. The people listened to him with admiration and joy. Twelve persons were selected to remodel the constitution of the republic.

The influence of Doria's virtues and example communicated itself to his countrymen. The factions, which had long torn and ruined the state, seemed to be forgotten, prudent negotiations were taken to prevent their reviving, and the same form of government, which has subsisted with little variation, since that time, in Genoa, was established with universal applause. Doria was declared perpetual doctor of the republic. This distinction, he, however, refused, telling the people that it was more honorable for him to be thought worthy of such a distinction by his fellow citizens than actually to possess it.

The senate, astonished at his noble modesty and at his attachment to the Republic, passed a decree which declared him "The Father and Deliverer of His Country," erected a statue to him in the midst of the great square of Genoa; built for him a palace in the same place, which was to be called by his name; ordained that he and his posterity should be exempt from impost of all kinds; and that these decrees should be engraven on a plate of brass, appended to the walls of his palace as a memorial of the services he had done his country, and of the gratitude of that country towards him.

Colorado City DEPARTMENT ADVERTISING COLO. CITY

Most of the fraternal organizations, and many of the business men of this city are having printed either on the back or front of their envelopes an illustration representing a wagon wheel with Colorado City as the hub and all the attractions of the Pikes Peak region projecting as the spokes.

Around the ring of the wheel are the words "The Hub of the Pikes Peak Region." The design is similar to that used by Mayor Hamble in the sign in front of his real estate office.

Many of the merchants have already expressed their willingness to make use of this means of advertising the city, and several thousand envelopes were printed yesterday. It is thought that if everybody here uses this plan, the results will show to a great extent next summer when the tourist season starts.

The idea is Mayor Hamble's, he having the drawing and cut made. He says the cut is now public property, and all who wish to use it may have it for the asking. In this way the cost to the merchants will be small, a printing bill of a dollar or so covering it.
